ID	2290
Curricular Unit	Dissertation
Regent	Vários docentes de acordo com os temas escolhidos pelos estudantes.
Learning Outcomes	The Master has 3 areas of professional development and scientific framework, which will provide reference for the scientific framework of studies undertaken under the Research Branch of activity, namely: - Functionality and Quality of Life - Development and Learning - Mental Health and this framework has sufficient knowledge to develop new priority with potential application in the following areas: health, education, social security and justice. The realization of these research projects aims to: Within the knowledge produced: a) Identify and characterize the relative importance of psychomotor aspects in human development and the development of difficulties, diseases, disorders and disorders / disturbances along the path of life b) Identify and characterize the effects of psychomotor practice in many application contexts, along the path of life and different issues; c) Encourage the development of practices of inquiry and investigative procedures for disposition
Syllabus	Investigative Methodology The nature of the object under study justifies estratégiasmetodológicas using the following priority: - Single case studies; - Studies of clinical evidence; - Collaborate in studies of metrics qualities of instruments psychomotor evaluation; - Differential Studies. Lines of Inquiry: a) Characterization of psychomotor organization in normal or atypical expressions of development or learning; b) Study of the impact of specific intervention methodologies psychomotor, (preventive, (re) educational and therapeutic) in different fields and contexts of action (health, education, social security and justice);
Evaluation	Reviewed in accordance with the guiding document of the thesis.
Bibliography	Depending on the specific research program